The Dream Science Circus, the unique circus comedy show started in the Pacific Northwest will be once again showing its wild mix of creative interactive theater, outrageous sketch comedy, and jaw-dropping acrobatics all throughout the northwest in 2007.

This outstanding ensemble of acrobats, dancers, actors, visual and performing artists, and musicians will not waver to deliver the most inspired, attention grabbing, and breathtaking circus show you will see this year!

Full of diverse, and enlivening material, this show will combine a spectacular array of dance, music, physical comedy, pantomime, and aerial acrobatics into a neatly and professionally crafted storyline hosted by "Dream Scientist" Dr. Ludo Hopenspitz. With one part improvisation, one part comedy, one part science, and seven parts circus (that's ten parts, if you're counting), during these 90 minutes even the most cautious audience members will succumb to bright eyes and a vocabulary of Ooooooh's and aaaaaaaaah's!
